

6 Month Trade-up Policy

From time to time a customer may realize that the unit purchased is too small or limited in function. In these cases, a customer may contact Everlast sales and inquire about the possibility of trade-up. This policy extends to 6 months from time of purchase and inquiries must be initiated before this time expires. Please call 1-877-755-9353 ext 201 (sales) for more information.

Please remember the following details about the Everlast Trade-up policy.

1. The customer will incur 20% restock fee, plus additional deducts for any wear and tear on the unit, plus the cost of shipping.
2. The customer will pay the difference between the price paid for the original welder and the full, regular sale price of the new upgraded model.
3. Any wear or tear or additional damage not disclosed at time of approval may incur additional deductions in trade-in price.
4. This policy only applies to models that Everlast decides are bonafide trade-up models. These are characteristics that meet trade-up policy:
 - New units are at least 15-20% more than the original purchased model when prices are compared.
 - New units should have extra features, or more advanced designs.
 - New models should have more power, especially if not meeting all the other criteria.
5. The closer to the original purchase date a trade-up is requested, the more value will be received for the unit. Trade-ups within the first 30 days of ownership are less likely to have any additional deductions for wear and tear.
6. Everlast ultimately decides what is considered a trade-up.
7. Trade-ups are subject to availability and may not be available at seasonal times of years when demand is highest and supplies are lowest.
8. After the first 6 months no trade-ups will be considered.
9. This is in no way to be construed as a "trade-in" policy. Restock and shipping fees apply.

While the trade-up policy exists to help customers, Everlast ultimately reserves the right to reject any request for trade-up that we do not feel is best interest of both parties. This policy excludes any models that were special ordered or made to owners specifications that are not normally sold on this site by Everlast.

This policy does not apply to accessories or parts. For lasers, this policy does not apply. Laser trade-ups will be considered only on a private, case by case basis due to additional laws governing lasers at the national and local levels.
